IDEA JOURNEY

The Story Behind FieldVision AI

After i got email i had an idea insistent brainstorming the my idea which i had face ducting watching sport and spend means waste time i should go on reddit because that's the only platform people can talk anonymously so they share their wild ideas

Where i found this post someone already looking for it (maybe he'd received the same task)

Then i saw this raw idea looking boring but

After talking with my buddy(GPT bro) we polished it and that above is the result

The idea is to build an AI-powered tool that shows fans the live cricket field placement, helping them see where every fielder is positioned and understand the strategy behind those positions.

The goal is to make live cricket easier to follow and understand.
